CUT INCOME TAX $40, SAYS TRUMAN

REVENUE PLAN OF PRESIDENT STIRS UP GOP

OPPOSITION LABELS PROGRAM UNSOUND AND POLITICAL

BY OLIVER DE WOLF

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP) — Republican cries of "political" and "unsound" today greeted reports that President Truman might propose tax relief for low income groups only if the revenue loss were balanced by higher levies on business profits.

A close associate of Mr. Truman disclosed earlier this week that the chief executive was weighing such a suggestion from some of his advisers.

Without waiting to hear whether the president would include this idea in his state of the union message today, influential GOP members of both house and senate left no doubt that they are all set to fight it.

Democrats Go Along

At least two Democrats, however, said they would go along with Mr. Truman in preference to the Republican bill to cut income taxes for all individuals by a total of $5,600,000,000 without disturbing present corporation taxes.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic whip or assistant party floor leader, told a reporter that as a matter of fact he has been working on a bill somewhat along the same lines as those mentioned by the White House advisers.

He would revive the wartime excess profits tax—that is, a special levy on all profits above those earned in some representative base period—and apply individual tax relief by two means: (a) hiking the present $500 personal exemption to $700 and applying the income-splitting community property principle to all states.

The Republican - backed bill written by chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the House Ways and Means committee provides for a $100 boost in personal exemptions, the community property idea and, in addition, cuts in present levies ranging from 30 per cent in low brackets to 10 per cent at the top.

Expansion Discouraged

Taking issue with the Knutson bill and voicing hope Mr. Truman would offer his own counter-proposal, Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) commented: "brother, that makes sense to me. Some kind of an excess profits tax on corporations, to make room for relief of the little

Young Hindu Robbed Near Oklahoma City By 2 Hitch-Hikers

Oklahoma City, Jan. 7 (AP) — Bipan Patel, 20, grandson of India's secretary of the interior, Sardar Vallabhai Patel, was bound and robbed just outside Oklahoma City last night.

The thieves were two young hitch-hikers he picked up near Amarillo, Texas, yesterday, while driving back to school at the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind., from a holiday vacation in Los Angeles, he told police.

Patel said the pair jumped him, forced him off the road, and tied him up with adhesive tape. They took $60 in cash, two cameras worth $300, all his extra clothes and drove off in his car—promising to abandon it in town.

Thousands Flee From Floods In Oregon Valleys

Eugene, Ore., Jan. 7 (AP)—The flood crest of a rain swollen Willamette river swirled northward today from this stricken upper valley area leaving thousands of persons in the care of relief agencies.

One child has drowned, in a rain swollen ditch.

Along a hundred mile stretch of the rich farmlands in the middle and lower valley, where tributaries have already burst their banks, communities braced for greater inundation of lowlands, highways and more evacuations.

Six days of incessant rains have pounded western Oregon and the weather bureau forecast was for continued rain today and tonight. Warm chinook winds off the ocean have caused mountain snows to melt, adding to the flooding conditions in the valleys.

A dozen families were made homeless in Douglas county when a creek overflowed, sweeping away a tent colony. In the Lane county lowlands near Eugene and Springfield, the Red Cross has directed evacuation of some 1,400 persons to higher ground. They are being cared for in public school auditoriums, fire halls and lodge rooms in the area.

The Army Engineers' Corps, which issued orders placing its major flood control plan into effect yesterday, has instructed farmers in lowlands of the middle valley to remove livestock from fields along the rivers. At Portland, the Coast Guard auxiliary readied motor boats for use in possible rescue activity.

The principal north-south highway route through the heart of the state, leading from Washington to California, was severed at several points. In scattered areas of the upper valley there were half a dozen villages isolated by broken communications and power service. A few were cut off when roads were flooded.

Several score bus passengers were stranded in small upstate communities when state police closed the Pacific highway, between Medford and Grants Pass, and several other major routes were blocked by washouts.

The extreme southern Oregon area and the coastal area also were hit by the disruption of power, telephones and highway washouts.

The flood crest is due to strike the middle valley near the cities of Corvallis, Albany and the state capital at Salem late Thursday and early Friday. The river crest is now expected to range from four to 10 feet above the flood stage. The Army Enginers said this would be slightly below the disastrous levels of 1945 and 1943 when damage ran into millions of dollars.

SIXTEEN PERISH IN AIR WRECKS

Three Americans Among Dead At LeBourget Field In Paris

Paris, Jan. 7 (AP)—Sixteen persons perished and seven others were hurt in two separate European plane crashes last night. Three Americans were among the dead.

An Air France DC-4 from Brussels crashed and burned while coming in for a landing at Le Bourget airfield in Paris, killing 15 of the 16 persons aboard, including the three Americans.

A British European Airways twin-engined Viking hit a tree in the rain while coming into London's suburban Northholt Airdrome from Glasgow. The pilot was killed and six of the other 14 persons aboard were hurt.

A Polish woman passenger was the only person to survive the French crash. She was thrown clear with two other persons, but they died later of their injuries.

Air France tentatively identified the Americans as Burrel, Sibre and Power, but said full identification could not be made pending a check. One was said to be Jane Burrel of Minnesota, a courier of the U. S. Embassy in Paris.

The plane was gliding in for a landing at Le Bourget when it scraped the tops of some trees, fell into a clearing and burst into flame.

Strike Vote Set For Detroit News Printers, Mailers

Detroit, Jan. 7 (AP)—A strike vote was ordered today for the AFL printers and mailers employed by the Detroit News, last of the city's three daily newspapers to continue efforts to reach a peaceful solution in the long dispute.

Philip Weiss, chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, reported late yesterday that mediation attempts had failed, and said he would announce a strike vote date today.

Earlier mailing and composing room workers of the Detroit Times, like the News an afternoon paper, and the morning Free Press scheduled strike votes.

GENERAL FACES PERJURY TRIAL

Associate Pleads Guilty In Meyers War Profits Investigation

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Bennett [illegible] accused of lying to the Senate War Investigating Committee about his private wartime business deals and of inducing another witness to commit perjury, pleaded innocent in federal court today.

Federal Judge David A. Pine, before whom Meyers was arraigned, set the trial for Feb. 16.

Judge Pine gave defense counsel 10 days in which to file motions attacking Meyers indictment.

Meyers was indicted on three charges of perjury and on three charges that he persuaded Bleriot H. Lamarre, 35, a former business associate of the general, to tell falsehoods to the Senate committee.

Lamarre also was indicted on three charges of perjury and pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Pine. Sentence against Lamarre, a resident of Dayton, O., was deferred pending a report from a probation officer. Evidence before the Senate committee showed LaMarre was installed as president of the Aviation Electric Company, founded by Meyers in Dayton, while the general held a high post in air force purchasing during the war.

Night Club Hostess And Manila Shiek To Die for Murder

Manila, Jan. 7 (AP)—Gloria Caballero, a night club hostess, and Ricardo Parulan, flashily dressed Manila gangster, were sentenced to death in the electric chair by Judge Sotero Rodas of city court yesterday.

They were convicted of the kidnap murder of Arthur Lee, Chinese-Filipino millionaire whom the court described as "an obstruction to the full enjoyment of their romance." She was born in Stockton, Calif.

Gloria, dressed in a fashionable white tailored suit and obviously expecting acquittal, burst into sudden tears when sentence was pronounced. "Chin Up, Darling," Parulan told her.

NEW 10-YEAR GOAL MAPPED FOR AMERICA

WHITE HOUSE CALLS FOR INSURANCE OF FUTURE WELFARE

Washington, Jan. 7—(AP)—President Truman called on America today to achieve in the next ten years five "goals for the future which have the greatest bearing upon the foundations of our democracy and the happiness of our people."

He listed them in his state of the union message to Congress as follows:

1. To secure fully the essential human rights of our citizens."

(x x x some of our citizens are still denied equal opportunity for education, for jobs and economic advancement, and for the expression of their views at the polls. Most serious of all, some are denied equal protection under our laws. x x x I shall send a special message to the Congress on this important subject.")

2. "To protect and develop our human resources."

("We should now extend unemployment compensation, old age benefits, and survivors' benefits to millions who are not now protected. x x x raise the level of benefits. x x x our ultimate aim must be a comprehensive insurance system to protect all our people equally against insecurity and ill-health. x x x to provide an adequate education for every person. x x x the government's programs for health, education and security are of such great importance to our democracy that we should now establish an executive department for their administration.")

3. "To conserve and use our natural resources so that they can contribute most effectively to the welfare of our people."

("We must vigorously defend our natural wealth against those who would misuse it for selfish gain * * * intensify our efforts to develop new supplies and to acquire stockpiles of scarce materials * * * expand our reclamation program to bring millions of acres

Friendship Caravan Loads Up Michigan Food For France

Detroit, Jan. 7 (AP)—More than 500 tons of "friendship" food were being loaded today for a motor caravan—the Michigan version of the famed friendship train.

The Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the drive that began after it was announced the train would not stop in this state, reported contributions from 78 Michigan communities.

In Detroit, retiring Mayor Edward J. Jeffries proclaimed the current week "Friendship Food Caravan Week."

Most of the food collected will be shipped to France with government approval, reported James E. Blaney, chairman of the drive. He said representatives of the Junior Chamber would accompany the shipment on a special vessel.

Ground Leap Saves Ten Crew Members On Crippled Bomber

Merced, Calif., Jan. 7 (AP)—Ten men who leaped from a crippled B-29 bomber as it struck the ground last night thanked their split-second timing and strong legs for their miraculous escape from death or serious injury.

The eight crew members and two civilian passengers suffered only minor cuts and bumps.

Inbound from McClelland Field near Sacramento, the superfort developed engine trouble on the approach and crashed with terrific impact on one of the landing strips. Just as the ship touched the ground all 10 men leaped out. The plane slithered along the strip and burst into flame.

Lake County Man Admits New Year's Slaying of Wife, 23

Baldwin, Mich., Jan. 7 (AP)Lake County Sheriff Edward J. Engel said last night that James Pollaski of Chase had confessed slaying his wife, Frances, 23, on New Year's Eve, giving up his earlier story that she had jumped out of their car.

The sheriff declared he would take the confession to the Lake County prosecutor for issuance of a warrant after Pollaski's return here today.

Pier And Cargo Burn In $1,500,000 Fire On Brooklyn Waterfront

New York, Jan. 7, (AP)—A 1,000-foot pier and its cargo were destroyed and a freighter damaged in a $1,500,000 five-alarm fire which raged on the Brooklyn waterfront early today, lighting up lower Manhattan and a large section of the harbor.

The pier blaze, which broke out shortly before midnight (EST), was reported under control about 1 a. m. but 300 firemen with five fire-boats and 35 pieces of land apparatus continued to fight the flames.

The S. S. Rio Parana, an 8,498-ton freighter of the Argentine state merchant fleet, was towed aflame into the East river where the crew and fireboats extinguished the fire. The freighter blazed up again a short time later, but the flames again were quickly extinguished. Police said the ship was not badly damaged.

There were conflicting reports as to whether the fire started on the ship or pier.

A pier watchman suffered smoke poisoning, and the captain of a barge alongside the burning ship jumped or fell into the water but was rescued.

Firemen centered much of their efforts on keeping the fire from spreading along the row of wooden piers and industrial plants on the waterfront, nestling under the fashionable Brooklyn Heights residential section atop a cliff. The fire fighters' work was made harder by the inaccessibility of the area.

The fire was in an historic neighborhood, only a few yards from the spot where George Washington once made his headquarters, about two blocks south of the Brooklyn bridge and a short distance from famed Plymouth church and the site where Tom Paine lived.

EAST IS SHORT ON HEATING OIL

Northern Seaboard Area Worried; New York Asks 20 Tankers

New York, Jan. 7 (AP) — An acute fuel oil shortage gripped the northern Atlantic seaboard area today as Mayor William O'Dwyer appealed to the U. S. Maritime Commission for 20 additional tankers to help the New York metropolitan area replenish its critically dwindling supply.

Boston and Philadelphia also reported fuel emergencies and Gov. Charles M. Dale of New Hampshire urged striking AFL truck drivers in Boston to permit uninterrupted passage of food, fuel and medical supplies into his state to avert "severe hardship."

Dale wired Massachusetts Governor Robert F. Bradford yesterday "that emergencies are developing due to the reported halting in Massachusetts of trucks carrying these vital supplies to New Hampshire."

Bradford said he believed "responsible union officials are making every effort" to move such supplies.

Mayor O'Dwyer wired his appeal to the Maritime commission after warning that fuel oil distribution planned for the recently-weather harried New York area by the oil industry in the next 90 days would meet "at most 60 per cent of our minimum requirements." He asked that the tankers be allocated through February.

Philadelphia's emergency was described by Mayor Bernard Samuel as "not only critical but threatens to become disastrous." He urged oil users to reduce consumption of the city's limited supply.

Massachusetts state oil conservator George P. Rockwell told householders that use of heating oil must be cut 15 per cent to prevent some suffering in that state.

WORLD OFFICES OPENED BY U. N.

Confidential Pipelines Siphon Information In Major Capitals

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, Jan. 7. (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie has laid confidential pipelines to siphon information from many of the world's major capitals, including three cities in the Russian sphere, it was learned today.

Material is fed into the lines from a network of United Nations information centers established and still being set up around the globe. The 12th office in the string—the one at Moscow—will be in operation by the end of this month.

U. N. offices already are functioning in Warsaw, Prague, London, Paris, Washington, Shanghai, Rio de Janeiro, Mexico City, Copenhagen, New Delhi and Geneva. Another will be opened in the Middle East—it may be in Jerusalem—and still others in three cities to be selected in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

Freight Rate Up; Gasoline Higher

Detroit, Jan. 7 (AP)—The price of gasoline and refined oil in Michigan cities outside the Detroit Metropolitan area was increased a tenth of a cent today by the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

Company spokesmen said the price boost, imposed in 10 midwestern states, was put into effect "to offset increases in freight rates that became effective Jan. 5."

Passage Of Foreign Aid Program May Linger Until July 1

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP)—Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and George (D-Ga.) predicted today it probably will be July 1—three months later than the administration's target date—before any long range European recovery program goes into effect.

And Senator Ball (R-Minn.) said, "there is no chance" Congress will meet the April 1 deadline set without naming a new date, that by the state department for final congressional approval of the Marshall plan.

Taft and George agreed in separate interviews, however, that congress might vote additional stop gap assistance to tide some European nations over a part of the April-July interval they foresee.

But Ball, a member of the Senate Appropriations committee which would have to approve any interim fund, disagreed.

"Any idea that 240,000,000 (million) Europeans can't get along for a month or two without a dole from America is just plain nuts," Ball declared.

Last month during the special session Congress appropriated $540,000,000 (million) in stop gap aid for France, Italy, Austria and China. This program is scheduled to wind up April 1, but Taft and George said they believe the money may last until June.

Taft said some form of the Marshall plan may clear Congress in June or a little earlier, "but I don't think there will be any long range program in actual operation before July 1," which is the start of the fiscal year.

AUTO WORKERS TO SEEK RAISE

Third Postwar Wage Boost Charted For 900,000 In CIO

Detroit, Jan. 7 (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers began charting their course today on a demand for a third postwar wage boost for 900,000 factory employes.

The exact goal was still to be determined—number of influential UAW locals have proposed 25 cents an hour—but the decision was believed only a matter of days distant.

President Walter Reuther, in announcing the UAW's intent to seek bigger pay checks in 1948 rather than count on a price rollback, said his union would "demand and win" a raise as a "forced necessity."

At the same time a brother CIO union, the United Electrical Workers, announced plans to seek a "substantial" wage increase for its 300,000 members.

For the purpose of "finalizing our wage program," the UAW-CIO's international executive board has been called into session here Jan. 15, negotiations in the auto industry start within about two months.

There was no immediate comment from the industry. Spokesmen for managements indicated this would await the filing of the UAW's formal proposals.

No Man Found Yet For $10,000 Post In AFL Campaign

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP)—A scarcity of candidates for the job forced the AFL today to put off for possibly another month the selection of a director to run its "political education" campaign.

The post will pay "in excess of $10,000," AFL President William Green said, but the 30-man administrative committee was "unable to center on anyone as yet" to accept it. Former Senators James Mead (D-NY) and Robert La Follette (R-Wis.) both sent word they were unavailable.

The committee will meet February 4 in Miami during the session of the AFL executive council to make the final choice. Meantime, a subcommittee will be looking around, Green told reporters.

Manistee Assured $500,000 Hospital

Manistee, Jan. 7 (AP)—A new half million dollar hospital here seemed assured today with announcement by advisory board chairman Chester L. Adams that a $250,000 public subscription goal had been exceeded.

An amount equal to the subscription total will be provided by the Sisters of Mercy to finance the $500,000 institution.

Construction is expected to start in the spring near the site of the present hospital. Part of existing facilities for housing and brine baths will be utilized.

FRESH LEVIES ON BUSINESS ARE PROPOSED

CORPORATIONS CAN TAKE UP SLACK, CONGRESS TOLD

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington, Jan. 7, (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to vote in immediate "cost of living" tax cut of $40 for every individual taxpayer and each dependent.

He proposed that this $3,200,000,000 loss in federal income be made up by higher corporation taxes.

In his state-of-the-union message which he personally delivered, Mr. Truman thus laid the groundwork for another tax battle with the Republican - controlled Congress on the second day of its 1948 session.

Millions Off Rolls

Speaking to a joint session in the House chamber, the president said the "cost of living" tax credit he proposed would mean a $160 tax cut in 1948 for a man and wife with two children." Thus, he said, it would give them "a saving that could be used to buy the necessities of life."

There are 54,500,000 individual income taxpayers. Mr. Truman's recommendation would sweep millions from the tax rolls—all those whose tax as now computed does not come up to $40 fo rthe taxpayer himself and each dependent.

Because of inflation, he said, the government should not reduce its total revenues—and he described corporations as well able to take up the slack.

Universal Training Included

The recommendation ran sharply counter to a $5,600,000,000 GOP tax cutting measure sponsored by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the House Ways and Means committee which would give income tax payers percentage cuts all along the line and leave corporation taxes unchanged.

Mr. Truman's 5,000-word message to a joint session of the two chambers also called for:

1. Enactment of the 10-point anti-inflation program he submitted to the recent special session, including standby wage-price control and rationing authority. The bulk of this program was turned down by the Republican leadership.

2. Prompt congressional approval of an initial expenditure of $6,800,000,000 to finance the European recovery program—the Marshall Plan—for 15 months from next April 1 as a "decisive contribution to world peace."

3. Quick action to set up a program of universal training as the foundation of a national security program, and maintenance of strong armed forces as long as "there remains serious opposition to the ideals of a peaceful world."

4. An increase in the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour.

5. Extension and strengthening of rent controls which are due to expire February 29.

6. Broadened Social Security coverage and increased benefit payments.

7. Legislation to protect the civil rights of every individual.

8. A national health program financed by compulsory insurance.

Big Revenues Needed

In a message certain to be quoted frequently by Democratic orators in the coming national election campaign, Mr. Truman said he wants to keep revenue collections where they are and still help those who need relief to "buy the necessities of life."

Asserting that corporate profits reached the "extraordinary high

JAYCEES HEAR ARMY PROGRAM

Major Leer Is Speaker At Organization Meeting

For security that means a 'depression-proof job', young men of this area should join the new 'Career Army', according to Major Edwin J. Leer, U. P. recruiting officer, who addressed the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

The new Army is being built of selected personnel, he declared, and misfits are rapidly being weeded out. It offers a career of specialized study, world-wide travel, fine living conditions, and at a pay rate that is the highest in the history of the Army. Retirement pay will average well over $100., he pointed out. Schooling is guaranteed to every man, and the sky is the limit in advancement in rate. The Army takes care of clothing, medical and dental expenses, and gives a man 30 days vacation per year, the Major said.

However, he stated, the Army has fallen short of its recruiting quotas at the rate of 10,000 men per month. An Army and Air Force of 1,070,000 men is needed to maintain the peace. In the Upper Peninsula during 1947 the quota was 610 men. A total of 519 recruits were enlisted, while 147 men were rejected. The number of rejects will indicate the type of men being selected for the new 'career Army'.

Major Leer thanked the Junior Chamber of Commerce for its interest in the present nation-wide recruiting campaign. The Escanaba chapter will launch recruiting week Monday, Jan. 12. All members will make a special effort to contact prospective recruits and explain the new Career Army to them. The recruiting committee is in charge of Don Guindon, chapter secretary.

Two other recruiters of this area, T. Sgt. Spencer C. Mathison and M. Sgt. Garret Leeman, were guests of the Jaycees and spoke briefly.

The Jaycees pledged their support to Dr. Vernon Johnson who will head the Delta county Red Cross drive this year. Dr. Johnson led a discussion of Red Cross activities in this area.

A motion was made to investigate the need for a branch or subpostoffice in Escanaba, especially during the holiday season.

It was announced by president Roy Johnson that the regular Jaycee meeting of Feb. 17 will take the form of a "Boss' Night". The regular meeting place will be used, the Marine Room of the Hotel Ludington.

Habeas Writ Denied By Judge Jackson

Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone on Tuesday issued an order in chambers denying a petition by John Kangas of Escanaba for a writ of habeas corpus that would free Kangas from Marquette prison, where he was sentenced last year as a third offender, drunk and disorderly. The petition was apparently prepared by Kangas, and was denied without prejudice by Judge Jackson because it is "so indefinite, uncertain &—and incomplete."

TWO PRISONERS RETAKEN TODAY

Marquette Trusties Away One night; Arrested In Negaunee

Two Marquette prison trustees who walked away from the honor camp at 8:25 p. m. Tuesday were recaptured at 10 a. m. today by police in Negaunee, after being at liberty for only one night.

Prison officials reported to state police that the two young men, Alfred Weiner, 19, and James Horner, 20, were observed leaving the honor camp Tuesday night. This morning Negaunee police recognized the pair and took them in custody. They did not offer resistance.

Weiner was sentenced to prison for two to 15 years in 1946 in Ingham county for breaking and entering in the night time.

Horner had been sentenced to prison for two to five years from Calhoun county in May, 1947, for unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Following their escape Tuesday night state police and other law enforcement agencies began an intesive search for them. Main highways were patrolled and blockades set up, one at Rapid River.

Hospital

Lawrence Girard, chairman of the Town Hall committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, announced today that tickets will be available for the concert by Thomas L. Thomas on January 13. The number of seats available will be limited, however, since most seats outside of the reserved seat section have already been taken up by general admission season tickets.

According to Girard, there are still some seats left in the reserved section which was originally blocked off for this purpose. It is anticipated that when the small supply of single admission tickets for the Thomas L. Thomas concert are sold, that there will be an additional demand for reserved seat season tickets. Season tickets can still be purchased on the installment plan up to and including the night of the concert.

Girard advised that persons who want to assure themselves of hearing the concert should purchase their tickets at once from the merchants in Escanaba who are handling them: Gust Asp, Home Supply, Household Electric and Tommy's Lunch.

SNOW REMOVAL EXPANDED HERE

Motorists' Cooperation Requested By City Engineer

The city's snow removal program which in the past has been confined to Ludington street and Stephenson avenue will be extended to include the half blocks adjacent to Ludington street on Ninth, Tenth, 11th and 12th streets, both north and south of Ludington street, it has been announced by Loren Jenkins, city engineer.

The purpose of the extesion of the snow removal program to the half block areas involved is to eliminate traffic hazards at those points and to increase parking facilities.

The city engineer has urged the cooperation of motorists in the snow removal program. He reported that many motorists are parking automobiles ahead of the snow loader, necessitating costly delays in pulling these cars away from the curbs.

Property owners in the business district have been notified that if they will remove the snow from walks and driveways and push it beyond the curb where the snow loader can reach it, the snow will be hauled away by the city crews. However, it is important that the snow does not be pushed into areas where it will impede pedestrians.

The snow loader makes two trips through each street in its removal program, the trips being made on successive days. The second trip is a cleanup.

In areas where snow is not loaded and hauled away, the snow plows go through just once. Frequently property owners have pushed snow into the street after the plows have passed, creating a traffic hazard.

In the future snow pushed or shoveled into the street after the plows have gone through will be cleaned by the city but the charge for this service will be assessed against the owner or tenant responsible.

More Electric Demand

ALL of the city's utilities have experienced a sharp increase in consumer demand in recent years but none more spectacularly than the electric utility, in which consumption has increased five times over the 1923 figure.

More significant than the five-fold increase since 1923 in the fact that electric usage in Escanaba has doubled since 1941. The ore dock project, of course, provided a tremendous lift to electric consumption locally in 1943, but when the dock project was abandoned by the government it was expected that electric usage would drop accordingly. The decrease was minor in 1943 and the following year consumption started to increase again and has been climbing steadily since then.

This is all the more surprising because of the fact that electrical appliances were virtually entirely out of civilian production until after the war. The expanded use of electric appliances, of course, helped to create the big demand in 1947 and to some extent in 1946, since those commodities were again being produced in substantial volume.

It will be interesting to get a breakdown on where this sharp increase in demand has come from. A large portion obviously is in residential use since the gas utility also is experiencing a sharp rise and its customers are almost exclusively householders. It seems logical to assume, however, that industrial demands for more power have played an even greater part in the trend.

Fortunately, unlike the water, gas and steam utilities operated by the municipality, the electric utility is in good condition to meet the expanded load and no tremendous expenditures for capital outlay are anticipated to meet the demand.

Capitalistic America

IN another of its daily attacks on the American capitalistic system, the Moscow radio the other day charged that although there are 1,750 daily newspapers in the United States, a decisive role in swaying public opinion is played by about 50 papers of the major cities and that these papers are controlled by only a score of people.

The Moscow radio reported that these large newspapers, which have a large circulation, enormous resources and staffs of correspondents throughout the world, have access to official governmental information not accessible to smaller competitors. In effect, the Russian propagandists alleged that American newspapers are operated as a monopoly by a handful of rich people.

The truth of the matter is that in no other country in the world does the small newspaper possess the privileges that are available to small newspapers in the United States. The news associations, particularly the Associated Press, provide the small newspaper with the highest quality and scope of news reporting that can be purchased at any price. So important is this in the industry, in fact, that when the Chicago Sun started its suit to secure an Associated Press franchise in Chicago, the courts held that an AP franchise, that is the right to access of Associated Press news coverage, is the most important and essential possession of a daily newspaper.

In contrast to the wholesome freedom and impartial reporting by the American press, Russian newspapers are under strict government censorship. The papers, operated as a government monopoly, publish only what they are told to publish by Marshal Joe and his cronies.

Seaway Gets Priority

THE Senate policy committee has granted early priority to the St. Lawrence seaway proposal in the Senate agenda and it is now scheduled for consideration this month while committees conduct hearings on the Marshall plan for aiding Europe.

The decision to place the seaway proposal high on the agenda relieves fears that this important project would be sidetracked in the shuffle developing over the Marshall plan and tax reduction. It was not previously included in the program outlined by Senator Taft, but Senator Vandenberg, presiding officer of the Senate, had indicated that he would fight for early action on the seaway project.

A Senate committee completed hearings on the St. Lawrence project before adjournment last summer and the measure received committee approval.

Despite continued bitter opposition from railroads and from the Great Lakes steamship lines, as well as sectional interests on the seaboards, the St. Lawrence project stands an excellent chance of approval at the current session of Congress. More people have come to realize the tremendous economic importance of this inland seaway which would unite Great Lakes ports with the great ocean ports of the world.

Coupled with the improvement in transportation that the seaway would provide is also the power development that would materialize. The need for more power in the industrial east is urgent and there is no better way in which this electrical energy could be provided than by the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Mournful Words

"I thought the track was clear." These mournful words explain the tragic death of ten children whose lives were snuffed out as the bobsled on which they were riding was struck by a New York Central passenger train in Ohio this week.

How many times in 1948 will these words be repeated to explain accidental deaths at railroad crossings?

"I thought the track was clear." "I didn't know it was loaded." "I didn't realize I was driving so fast." "I wanted to hurry the fire along so I poured in some kerosene."

Familiar words, all, and they and their counterparts add up to a frightening toll in human lives and crippled bodies.

Carelessness is still the greatest killer in this land. We spend millions to fight cancer, tuberculosis, infantile paralysis, heart disease, each a deadly killer, but we have made almost no headway against the worst murderer of them all, carelessness.

Other Editorial Comments

BIGGEST TAX CUT

(Detroit News)

Rep. Harold Knutson, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee has "upped his sights" in proposing income tax reductions. As compared with the $4,000,000,000 cuts made in this year's two GOP bills, both killed by President Truman's vetoes, Knutson's new bill holds forth to income taxpayers the glittering prospect of a $5,600,000,00 slash.

Knutson says he introduced the bill "on my own" but, since he heads the taxing committee, his measure signifies about what the GOP majority in the House will undertake to do early next year.

It is well, we think, to have the bill presented at this time for consideration by the country—and the Truman Administration—during the interval until Congress meets in regular session next month.

The bill does more for "little fellows" than the former GOP bills did. It would relieve about 6,000,000 people from paying any income taxes and, on medium incomes, grants reductions ranging from 20 to 30 per cent. All along the income line, the cuts range from 58 per cent on the lowest to 10 per cent on the highest.

A good feature to which, no doubt, the Treasury and President Truman will subscribe—and which seems assured of virtually unanimous support in Congress—extends the "community property" principle to all states.

Promises of lower taxes, always political bait, are that with a vengeance in this case!

PAULEY ON ETHICS

(The Jamestown (N. D.) Sun)

In reply to disclosures that he has been speculating in commodities, Edwin W. Pauley, California oil millionaire and special assistant to the secretary of the army, says that his trading is "a perfectly proper and ethical form of business."

In 1941 we became embroiled in a great war. . . By 1947 we discovered that we had won the war on the battlefield, but were losing it in the peace.

Our former allies, and our liberated friends, were starving. They lacked food and materials. We discovered, in 1947, that unless we continued our fight for freedom by sending food and materials to our friends, we would have fought in vain.

Thus food became as important as bullets to the American way of life. Whereas a bullet once extinguished an enemy, food now saved the life and freedom of a friend.

Ed Pauley speculated in this food. . . The only thing that drew him to the commodities market was the hope of profit.

He was attempting to profit upon the misery of the world. He was making financial gain at the expense of starving peoples.

There was no law against that, as Pauley points out. Even now there is no law against exploiting the misery of the people who fought for democracy. But Ed Pauley is as guilty of violating ethical standards as is Gen. Benny Meyers, who played the war bond market for profit.

There are 5420 airports in the U. S. For the land sakes!

SOME MATTERS OF ENGLISH USAGE

Dr. H. S. M., of Pomona, asks for a discussion of what he calls "the misuse of 'I can't seem'." He says, "'It seems that I can't do it' is correct language; whereas 'I can't seem to do it' offends."

It is true that some grammarians hold that "I seem" and "I can't seem" are illogical and should be avoided in careful speech and writing. This is the attitude held by Woolley & Scott, in the College Handbook of Composition.

It must be noted, however, that "I seem" and "I can't seem," and similar constructions occur so frequently in good American usage that they have taken on strong idiomatic force.

As a matter of fact, Webster's New International Dictionary, Second Edition, gives full sanction to the expressions, listing these (page 2,266) as correct usages: "I can't seem to unlock the door; I seem to hear strange voices."

Other accepted dictionaries also list as correct such constructions as "He, she seems; they, we seem."

During recent years a curious usage has been occurring in newspaper writing. A ship, say, is reported as being in "a sinking condition; a fatally ill or injured person is said to be in a dying condition."

This use of condition is not ungrammatical; but it is grotesque and dialectical. Let us hope sincerely that it doesn't spread any farther than it has. It would be pretty depressing to read of buildings in a burning condition, of crops in a growing condition, of rain in a falling condition, of diners in an eating condition, of Stassen in a campaigning condition, yes, and of Russia in a vetoing condition.

Th emost redundant phrase I have seen in many a day was sent to me by a reader who clipped it from a small-town daily. The reporter was truly on fire with journalistic zeal when he wrote: "The rain fell in a downpour of torrential inundation"!

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington. — Over and over, the prophets and the soothsayers have told us this is a year of decision. That is the note sounded, sometimes with the emphasis on doom around the corner, as the number on the calendar is changed.

Childs

What America must choose between is too often left vague. But one thing is by now abundantly clear.

The longer there is delay, inaction and uncertainty as to America's intentions and capacities, the more likely it becomes that the choice will be between the two extremes of left and right. And those two extremes of Communism and Fascism are equally repugnant to the average American.

WORLD CANNOT WAIT

A world in flux will not wait on American indecision. In Europe, hunger and despair are destroying what is left of the middle ground. Increasingly, Europeans are being pulled to one pole or the other.

Helping this process along are the plotters and the intriguers in both America and Europe who want to make it seem that the choice is between one kind of absolutism or another. Delay and indecision are what these plotters want.

Greece is a perfect example. Our aid program in that tragic country is too little, too late, too timid.

So the process of pulling apart continues. A recent flareup in Athens illustrates the diffulty of trying to reconstruct moderation when break-down has gone so far.

One of the key members of the American aid mission in Greece is Clinton Golden. Formerly an officer of the CIO Steel Workers Union, Golden was approved by both AF of L and CIO as the labor adviser on the mission. At a dinner in his honor, Philip Murray spoke in favor of the Greek program, thereby slapping down the leftists in his own organization who wanted to take another line and oppose the program.

Under great handicaps, Golden has made progress in getting Greek employers, unions and the government together. On Nov. 15 an agreement was signed under which the government agreed to consult with union leaders on labor legislation.

Then, suddenly, jittery reactionaries in the Athens government put over a fast one. They got a decree passed providing prison sentences for anyone who went on strike.

But that was not the worst feature of the decree. It provided the death penalty in the event that a strike should do damage to either property or life. Leaders of the striking union would be subject to the death penalty even though they had had no direct connection with the incident.

THREATENED TO QUIT

Golden was wild. He had no sympathy with the head of the Utility Workers Union who was threatening to call a strike. But he felt that the decree—intended to prevent the strike—would wreck all his efforts.

When there seemed to be little inclination in the mission to try to have the error collected, Golden sent an indigant cable to Washington. He suggested that under the circumstances he could hardly stay on.

That jolted the state department. There is general agreement today both in Washington and in Athens on the need to erase this blunder. It may be done through an official Greek interpretation of decree making it clear that the drastic penalties would not be applied except in acts of sabotage aimed at the security of the state.

Americans in Greece face a tough dilemma. Officials in the state department say: "In a country threatened with destruction by civil war, it may be necessary to declare martial law and temporarily suspend all civil rights."

If the situation in France should deteriorate into open civil war, America would face the same dilemma in western Europe. And the average American would be inclined to pull away from a choice presented in terms of warring reds and blacks.

Each day that European reconstruction is delayed makes the peril greater. It is truly a year of decision. But if too much time is wasted, there will be nothing left to decide between. The choice will be an empty one.

---Can Spring Be Far Behind

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

PAST AND PRESENT—People who have lived in Escanaba do not easily forget the town. It lingers in their memory through the years, reviving pleasant recollections no matter how long the separation.

Dunathan

Today we present the story of two former residents. One is Mrs. Elizabeth Sutherland Young, now 88 years old, who left Escanaba 30 years ago. The other is James Hannibal Clancey of Detroit and Panama City, Fla., Escanaba city attorney nearly 50 years ago.

* * *

CATCHING UP— Suppose we let Mrs. Young tell her own story, as she does in a letter dated Jan. 1, 1948, in which she requests that a copy of the Daily Press be mailed to her. "I judge a city by its newspaper," she observed.

"It's thirty years since I left Escanaba," she writes. "I know there is no one in business there now who was there sixty years ago. That was the year the Soo Railway built through to Minneapolis, and greed of the politicians ruined the possibility of that road coming into Escanaba, and created Gladstone.

"However, I did not sell my property there in Escanaba. I gave it away, in 1917. I have only met one person from there since I have lived in Norfolk these past 27 years—a Mrs. Nolan, a woman about 30 years old, who was here during the war. But I could not place her among any I once knew.

"My home was located at 602 Walcott street and Wells avenue. I loved my home and so did my husband, who built it. He died many years ago."

QUICK AND ALERT—"I am 88 years of age," Mrs. Young continues, "but I feel as quick and alert to the confusing political times as I ever was. I have slowed down, however, and I now walk with the aid of a cane.

"I live with my son, Capt. George S. Young, who is now 60 years of age. Both of us love beauty, as did his father. We live in a 14-room Colonial mansion surrounded by trees that might have been there a century ago, they are so large. My son is employed by a steam shipping agency in Norfolk. Their boats go to all parts of the world.

"I love Norfolk. It's climate is perfect. That's why I live so long. It is a democratic city and has spread out and grows too fast. Our city manager form of government, with five councilmen, does a fine job carrying on local improvements—with the prospect of several million inhabitants within a few years. That is the prosperous outlook for Norfolk in 1948."

MR. CLANCEY DEBATES—James Hannibal Clancey in his booklet "The Pay-as-You-Go Plan vs. The Contract Bond System" not only compares and analyzes. He also gives you a picture of various cities that he believes are exponents of pay-as-you-go policy and prosperity. Among them is Escanaba, and he writes of us as follows:

"Forty-five years ago I was a rising young lawyer and the city attorney of Escanaba, Mich. I had served the people one term as prosecuting attorney. Escanaba at that time was an iron ore and lumber port of considerable importance, population 12,000.

"It was in the hey-day of lumberjacks and sailors. We had 98 saloons. There were other rat holes, and more than the usual number of people who thought it was smart to be tough. Nevertheless, Escanaba has today, and always has had, men and women in business and the professions, very much above the average, as their leaders, alert and clever, always willing to look into, study and understand, the economic needs of its people. Without that block, no city is safe."

SEVEN TO ONE — "For 12 years, I, a Democrat, was elected and re-elected city attorney in a community that was seven to one Republican. It is a record that will stand for some time," Mr. Clancey modestly reports.

* * *

THE FOUNDATION— When Mr Clancey recalls the early days in Escanaba he remembers "the big fight" over a program of civic improvements.

"All we had to start with was a second class court house and a first class jail," he declares, adding that he led the fight for the pay-as-you-go plan. "The usual group of substantial business men, most of them perfectly honest but misled, were against it," but young Atty. Clancey won his fight. His stenographer he reports, was Mrs. R. E. Hodson.

Supporting his thesis that "pay-as-you-go" is the answer to economic ills, Atty. Clancey declares that Escanaba is "today the metropolis of the Upper Peninsula."

"She owns all of her public utilities. She owns, and keeps well stored, any and all kinds of machinery, equipment and tools to carry out any sort of city project, and a well-trained crew to do it with dispatch and economy."

He has little liking for bond issues, as you may have gathered. In fact he advises communities "to go out and fight those gangsters who are trying to sell you down the river on the contract-bond system."

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Miss Betty Lynott, a student of Sacred Heart convent, in River Forest, Ill., is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lynott.

Escanaba—David Doud and Allan Sawyer visited here yesterday with David Coon, enroute to California. The boys have been employed on Mackinac Island.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Fred LeBrasseur are the parents of a daughter born Jan. 3.

Gladstone — Miles Standish, student of the University of Wisconsin in Madison, returned yesterday after a holiday visit with Mr. and Mrs. Miles Standish, sr., his parents.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—Mrs. W. J. Casey has left for Detroit to visit a week with her daughter, Miss Agnes Casey who is appearing with the Harvey Girrard Concert company at State Theatre as a vocalist. Next week Mrs. Casey will visit Mr. and Mrs. George Casey, former residents of this city, in their home in Harvey, Ill.

Manistique—Sparks from an electric motor which was being used to pump distillate were believed responsible for the fire which completely destroyed the warehouse and garage of the Cloverland Oil company Jan. 6.

Gladstone—Miss Louise Clark left today for Grayling, Mich., where she teaches in the English and history departments, after spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Clark, her parents.

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—Child guidance experts never bother to give advice to the people who need it most—godfathers.

Their books on the care and feeding of ordinary children have more rules than a modern landlord's lease. But they are all written for parents—the people who have children. You can find therein how to burp junior, how to decide whether he has colic or cigarette cough, or how to tell him about the stork and who brings Santa Claus.

But a man will scan them in vain for the slightest hint on how to get along with his godchild. This is unfair and undemocratic and discriminates against a large and little appreciated class. Few people give much thought to the matter, but actually there are probably more godfathers in America than there are fathers.

Take a family with four children, for example. They all have the same father—unless mama took a trip to Reno along the way—but eacn has a different godfather, four in all.

Nothing To Do

You'd think that with the adult population simply crawling with godfathers someone would write a book for them. But no! Their duties, privileges and responsibilities are usually kissed off vaguely by the proud father in this manner:

"You're little junior's godfather. I know that if anything happens to me you'll watch over him until he can stand on his own feet."

Outside of that pleasant prospect, the godfather has no more work to do than a stand-in for a cigar store wooden Indian.

Some time ago a friend announced he wanted me to be godfather to his son. I accepted gratefully. I like kids but I am still batting .000 in the paternity league myself, so I thought this would enable me to have some of the joys of child-raising by proxy.

Well, I went over one day and my friend formally introduced me to my squirming godson:

"See the nice man, Terry. He's your godfather. If anything happens to daddy, the nice man will send you through college."

The infant took one look at me and let out a yell as if I had scalped him. He wept and screamed and got red in the face, and everytime I even glanced his way he groke out in wild calls of terror.

That was a year ago. Every month or so I drop by to visit him. The same thing happens every time. He sees "that nice man" and immediately erupts in a wailing niagara of tears. If I bring him small presents he will accept them only if relayed through a third person.

At the age of fourteen months he has only one word of greeting for me:

"Ugh!"

Book Should Be Written

Is that any way for a well brought up baby to say hello to his godfather? I get along famously with every other kid in the neighborhood. They even drop by sometimes to share their used bubble gum. But all my godson ever says is "Ugh!"

The only thing I can figure out is that the child is allergic to higher education.

Tomorrow I'm going around to see him and say:

"Terry, I don't care what happens to your daddy I'm not going to make you go to college. I'll get you a job racking up balls in a poolroom, kid."

Maybe then the little fellow will like me better. Believe me, the fathers have it easy. You have to do more than pass out cigars to be a good godfather.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Bologna, Italy. (By Wireless)—When I left the United States I promised various editors in cities which had contributed to the Friendship Train that I would give them a careful report on the distribution of the food and whether the people of Italy fully realized that it came from the American people. So far, I can conscientiously say that the over-all reaction has been excellent and the food is being distributed efficiently.

Pearson

However, there was one development in Paris which indicates the difficulty of getting American aid identified for what it is—American. It was agreed by American church and relief groups in France that after the first Friendship Train ran to Marseilles, at least one American would ride on each of the nine subsequent Friendship Trains to other French cities, in order to stage appropriate ceremonies with the local mayors and the French press explaining how the food had been collected and how it truly came from the American people.

Geoffrey Parsons, editor of the Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune, did a fine job of this on the first train and Henry Cassidy of the National Broadcasting Company together with Harry Hill, president of the American club in Paris, agreed to get either an American newsmen or an American businessman to accompany each train. The American relief agencies also agreed to send a man on ahead to each town, in order to organize appropriate receptions and to give the story of the Friendship Train to local newspapers. In addition, relief agencies agreed to print a booklet with pictures of the food being distributed in order further to impress the French people with the way the food was being used and where it had come from.

Following my departure for Italy, however, Donald Lowery, head of the Y. M. C. A. in Paris, called a meeting of American church and relief groups and urged that what he called the "Pearson ballyhoo" be dropped. He proposed that the food be distributed on schedule, but without the previously agreed-upon program to identify it with the American givers. With the exception of one American agency — the joint Jewish distribution committee—the relief groups agreed with him. It was voted to cut out the so-called Pearson publicity.

Hearing of this action, the American embassy discreetly intervened. Officially, the embassy has nothing to do with the Friendship food though unofficially its staff has been of tremendous help. Now, upon urging of the embassy, the previously planned ceremonies for each Friendship Train have been reinstated.

INEPT PUBLIC RELATIONS

The New York Herald Tribune's William Attwood has just published an interesting report from Arsoli, Italy, entitled "No one knows who sent the foods." In it he tells how, thanks to American aid, 2,000 people in one Italian village are eating better and are warmer than at any time since the war but the local mayor is a Communist and he tells the people that the American food which he distributes is from Stalin, while the people think the food distributed by the church groups is from the Vatican. Nobody gives any credit to the United States.

Since last July, Italy has received 200 shiploads of gift food from the United States and Ambassador James C. Dunn has religiously met many of these ships in order to impress upon the people the fact that the food comes from the United States. However, it is Attwood's conclusion that they still realize this only vaguely and that, in the smaller towns at least, the Vatican and Stalin are still getting the major credit.

Part of this misunderstanding is due to the fact that the U. S. wheat is turned over to the Italian government for distribution, which is probably the only machinery possible for bulk handling, but part is due also to the nickle-nursing of Congressman John Taber and his G. O. P. colleagues who cut the heart out of the state department's propaganda program. And finally it's due to some of the most inept public relations imaginable.

For instance, when the United States recently turned over to Italy 22 Italian warships given the United States by terms of the peace treaty, it was big news back in the United States but got scant notice in the Italian press because no one took the trouble to dig up the names of the vessels or the fascinating background relating to them. Later, John Secondari, then editor of the Rome American, managed to unearth the fact that the Conte Grande, one of Italy's prize passenger vessels, actually had been allocated to Brazil and that the U. S. government paid $60,000,000 to Brazil to get the ship back and give it to Italy. The Italian people, however, knew nothing about this. No one in the American government took the trouble to inform them.

ITALIANS PRINT POSTERS

One hundred and fifty big trucks, draped with Italian and American flags, left the Rome railroad station during my last day in Rome to drive slowly up to the historic Campidoglio. In the trucks were bags of flour, some marked with greetings from Fort Worth, Texas; some with greetings from Buffalo, N. Y., Richmond, Va., and from Jackson county, Missouri—President Truman's home—and from scores of other cities and towns in the U. S.

On the sides of the trucks were big posters, showing a picture of the Friendship Train in the United States with a message in the Italian language. We had these posters especially printed in the United States. However, the Italians went that one better and printed posters of their own.

TAN IS BADGE OF DISTINCTION

Value Of Vacation In Florida Judged By Sunburn

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Miami—I have always been fascinated by Miami Beach during the sucker season, when the wise salmon from up nawth try to swim upstream over the rising prices.

All Broadway men look alike. All Hollywood women are sisters under the slacks. One tap dancer is like another tap dancer, and most of the visitors to Miami Beach might have come out of the same litter.

They are characterized by the same frantic impulse to extract the last nickel's worth from sun and sea. They spend their money lavishly, but grudgingly. And they all seem to be in a hurry to get back north, to show off their tan and brag about how expensive the trip was.

The way you tell a native Miamian from the winter visitor is that the resident doesn't get sunburned. Tan is the badge of visiting distinction, and goes with the fox cape and the dissatisfied pinched faces the women wear when they spot a diamond weighing half-a-pound more than the one they're flaunting.

Weather is just weather most places, but I sometimes wonder if God isn't a little startled when he watches his subjects trying to harness it to their particular enterprises. Here they get sore at the heavens and wail that they're being crucified if the clouds roll over and knock some of the profit out of the sunshine. In most places, rain grows crops, but down here it grows bankruptcies and shuttered joints and evil tempers and family fights.

The fat, bald old men, with the fur-bearing shoulders, and the young women with the tightpulled upsweeps and the careful faces, which seem to have been rolled on in layers—they assault the sun in the morning as if it were a personal property.

"Come out, you bum," they say. "Come out and shine on my cabana. At 30 bucks a day for the hotel and dropping five c's a day at the track and going for $3200 at gin and laying out a yard a week for this cabana, come out and shine. Hustle. Shine here. The hell with over there. At these prices, shine, bum, shine."

Then they smear on the grease and adjust the goggles and cook themselves until it's time to start drinking lunch. They turn themselves slowly, like a fowl on a spit, and it seems to me the really good hotels should hire young men to stand over the sun bathers, basting them with precious oils.

They take a jealous inventory on tan. The men give each other the stare. There's Harry. Staying over in town, for cheap. I been here a week longer than the bum, but lookit his sunburn. I am being robbed. I am being cheated. At these prices I should be three shades blacker than Harry.

The day in the sun is over at noon, and a mysterious pull takes most of them to the track. The beaches are swept clean. There are two kinds of prestige to be gained at the track. You either win five grand or up. Or you lose five grand, or up. Anything under is shamefully guarded as a secret.

Carnegie Library Officers Reelected

Mrs. Nancy Thomas, librarian, was authorized by the board to write to various library schools to locate applicants for the position of children's librarian, which will be vacated by the resignation of Miss Jean Trantanella next June.

Dr. Roy Johnson attended his first meeting as a new member of the board of trustees last night. He succeeded Mrs. William Leiper, who resigned at the expiration of her term.

Guardsmen To Receive $2,707 In Pay Tonight

Today is pay day for members of Company C, 107th Engineer Combat battalion, Upper Michigan National Guard.

A portion of tonight's regular drill period at the state fairgrounds armory will be devoted to paying men for the last quarter of 1947. Checks amounting to $2,707 have been received from state headquarters in Lansing for Company C.

With the company now near maximum strength of 129 enlisted men as a result of the recent successful recruiting drive, the next pay allotment for the Delta county company will be considerably larger, it was pointed out by Capt. Roy Johnson, unit commander.

Men are paid at the rate of one full day's regular army pay for each two-hour drill period, ranging from $2.50 for a private to $5.50 for a master sergeant. In addition, they receive full pay for a two-week summer encampment period at Camp Grayling.

"Several ratings are still available for qualified men and we have a few vacancies," Capt. Johnson said. "All men between 17 and 35 years of age interested in joining are invited to visit the armory any business day between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. or during drill each Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

"Staff Sergeant LeRoy Erickson, our unit caretaker, is on duty each day at the armory office. Anyone having any questions about the National Guard is invited to see him or call him up. The telephone number is 533-R."

It is estimated that about seven percent of the tea drunk in America is consumed at afternoon tea parties.

CANCER CURE IS FORECAST

Chemical Conquest Of Disease Predicted By Medic

BY JANE STAFFORD

Cleveland, (SS)—The chemical conquest of cancer "may some day be possible," Dr. C. D. Creevy of Minneapolis declared at the meeting here today of the American Medical Association.

A sign showing this, he said, is the fact that comfortable life can be prolonged in almost three-fourths (about 70 per cent) of sufferers from cancer of the prostate gland by giving or withdrawing hormones.

"Cancer of the prostate gland is an insidious and almost uniformly fatal disease afflicting mainly old men," Dr. Creevy said. "Ninety five per cent are seen too late for cure because the disease produces symptoms late. And, because the symptoms are usually regarded as normal accompaniments of advanced years by most elderly men, medical consultation is postponed."

In operable cases, one urologist has had 50 per cent of five-year survivals. In inoperable cases, the administration or withdrawl of hormones has "permitted many old men to enjoy months or years of comfortable life after the disease has become painful."

Sigler Popularity Checked in Survey

Detroit, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Bureau of Government Research says that Gov. Sigler has gained in popularity among Michigan editors during his second six months in office.

However, the report said, he is held in less esteem than he was a year ago when he took office.

The bureau rated his popularity at 71 at the outset of 1947, down to 52 last June and back to 61 in December.

Currently, 13 per cent of the editors rate the chief evecutive very good, while 16 per cent consider him poor or very poor. Thirty-seven per cent find him good and 34 per cent "50-50".

The bureau said 43 per cent of Detroit citizens polled regard Mayor Eugene I. Van Antwerp, who took office today, capable of providing the city with better than average leadership. However, 70 per cent felt the new city council would do a good or better job than the old one.

Q. Is there a collection of mythical and heroic songs of Scandinavia?

A. Yes. It is called the "Edda." The poetic, or elder Edda was compiled by Saemund Sigfusson (1054-1133). It contains the famous poem of the Nibelungen cycle. The prose, or younger Edda, was compiled by Snorro Sturleson, the Scandinavian Livy (1178-1241). It is believed to have been compiled from posthumous papers left by Saemund, and from Icelandic sources and traditions.

Q. How is my eligible time changed for a business course two nights a week under the GI Bill?

A. It is determined by the following scale of hours (per week): 25 hours or more (full); 18, or less than 25 hours (three-fourths); 12, or less than 18 hours (one-half); and less than 12 hours (one-fourth). If you attended school three hours, two nights a week, only one-fourth of the time spent in the course will be charged against your total eligibility time. Hence, of your total course is eight months, only two months will be charged against your total eligibility time.

50-Passenger Planes Will Land At Kinross

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.,—Four-engine aircraft and CAA instrument landing equipment are among the new services expected at Kinross airport within the next few months, E. A. Clark, airport manager said today.

Fifty passenger, four-engine airplanes should be placed on the Sault-Northern Peninsula route of Trans-Canada Airways by April, and the Sault has a high priority rating with the Civil Aeronautics Authority for instrument landing equipment, said Clark.

Meanwhile, Clark has hopes that Capital Airlines may extend 50-passenger plane service as far north as Kinross, at least for weekend service next summer. Last summer four engine transports went as far north as Pellston.

Kinross, hewed out of a jackpine plains area by the Army Air Forces during the summer of 1942, at an estimated cost of $3,500,000, is rapidly becoming one of the busiest and most modern landing fields along the northern United States border.

Today, it is, in effect, the property of the City of Sault Ste. Marie. The Sault obtained a license from the government to operate the port in the summer of 1946.

Paradoxical as it may seem, operation of this multi-million dollar utility costs the city literally nothing. Through grants, rentals and other monetary considerations from the State and the Trans-Canada Airways, field lighting equipment has been installed and snow removal equipment has been purchased. Thus, some of the most expensive items have been paid for, and landing and other fees from PCA and TCA assist in paying other costs.

14 Employes

Operation of the two arlines at Kinross, TCA and Capital-PCA, requires the services of 14 employes to date. Heading all operations at the airport is Clark, who represents the city as its airport manager, and the two airlines.

Capital-PCA resumed operations to the Sault in July, 1946, using Kinross as a base of operations. The Sault is serviced by one flight a day by this airline. Capital started the Sault flight in July of 1938, using the municipal airport as its base. The run was discontinued in April, 1942, when the government requisitioned the aircraft for war purposes. At the time service was discontinued the Sault was the terminal for two daily flights.

On seeking resumption of the Sault route following the war, PCA requested use of Kinross airport, 17 miles south of town on US-2, as runways at the municipal airport did not meet CAA specifications for transport. Considerable work has been done, however, pust prior to and during the war, on the Sault Airport. The longest runway in the Sault is 3400 feet, and did not meet the CAA minimum of 3500 feet.

Built In Record Time

In the summer of 1946 the city commission sought and obtained a government permit to operate the Kinross base. This airport, built in a record time of about three months, and a sister port to the Raco field, 20 miles to the west, has three runways, each 5520 feet in length and 300 feet wide. Perimeter taxi strips connect all runways and the fields were designed for fighter and light bomber use in protection of the Sault locks.

Early in 1947, Trans-Canada, seeking an overland route as a shortcut between Fort William and Toronto, made arrangements for use of Kinross airfield. This airline had spent considerable money establishing two emergency landing fields along the route, Grand Marais and Houghton, and wanted a passenger stop at the Sault. All arrangements were finally made and on July 1, 1947, the first scheduled TCA stop was made. Kinross services eight TCA stops daily. Four of these stops provide for the enplaning and replaning of passengers, while the other four flights obtain only flight services and fuel.

Today about 800 flight passengers per month use Kinross airbase and when the four-engine plane service is provided, it is expected the passengers provided for will run into the thousands per month.

ABOUT WORK SHIRTS

If you know your stuff about work shirts, you'll look for fabric facts on the label before you buy a shirt for men or boys.

Shirting fabrics should be sturdy, of a weight and texture suited to the climate, and easy to wash clean. For mild weather, firmly woven chambray is a good choice. It screens out burning rays of the sun and still is lightweight for coolness. Coverts and warmer cottons are better choices for cold weather. Some materials such as khaki and jean make durable and heavy cold weather shirts but are difficult to launder at home.

If the label says "full shrunk" without designating any part of the garment, the shirt should not shrink at all when laundered. The term "preshrunk" offers the same guarantee unless it is qualified by a statement as "will not shrink more than——per cent." However, should the label state only "collar linings pre-shrunk," it may indicate that the body of the shirt has not been treated and will shrink badly when washed.

The term "vat-dyed" on the label of a colored shirt tells you that the color is fast to light and laundering.

Physically Handicapped Woman Gives Appealing Local Success Story

Success stories have a way of cropping out in the most unexpected places, and under the most unusual circumstances. For instance, few people in Manistique are aware of the fact that a woman of this city who is a semi-invalid and for years was a bedridden shut in, is engaged in manufacturing costume jewelry and art objects and not only has realized a comfortable income, has actually improved in health and in her outlook on life.

Miss Susan Caffey who lives with her mother, Mrs. Theodore S. Caffey, at their home on Deer street, makes costume jewelry trinkets and art objects, using sea shells and scales of certain ocean fish as the decorative medium. In the course of a year she makes hundreds of these ornaments, no two of which are alike, most of them conforming to ideas conceived at the moment. The results have to be seen to be fully appreciated. Needless to say, they find a ready sale.

When the Daily Press representative called Monday afternoon, Miss Caffey took pains to explain that what she had on hand was just a few articles left over from Chrismas. It was probably well that the number of articles was comparatively small, because the riot of color and unusual design was bewildering enough. There were dainty little earrings in rose, apple blossom or for-get-me-not design, brooches in rainbow and pastel tints, shoulder sprays and corsages made up of large green scales of fish and brightly colored shells that but a few feet away look for all the world like sprays of snap dragons, roses or cherry blossoms.

Quaint Figurines

Some of her quaintest, and perhaps most appealing creations are figurines of varied shapes and sizes. These are made on a cotton base reinforced with wire pipe cleaners, the dress designs, the hat the hair, even the hands and face are made of carefully selected shells and the results are beautiful and lifelike.

The costume jewelry is put on plastic bases and fastened with the aid of special cement. Much of the work has to be done with tweezers as some of the shells are so minute that they cannot very well be put in place with fingers. In a few cases artificial tinting has to be resorted to, but such touches are rarely needed as the natural color of the shells would be hard to improve upon.

Shells Interesting

The shells, Miss Caffey relates, would be pretty much of a story in themselves. They come from all parts of the world, principally from the Carribean sea and some of them are so marked that one would be led to believe that they were hand patterned.

Miss Caffey took up this work several years ago when she was helpless and bedridden. At that time she had given up hope of ever walking again. More to help while away the tedium of lonely hours than with the thought of making a livlihood out of it, she accepted the offer of a start in handicraft work made by the State Rehabilitation League. She chose work that had to do with the making of ornaments out of sea shells. From a few suggesions she learned to broaden the scope of her work until it has come to engross hundreds of designs.

Her product is disposed of, to the greatest extent, in resort areas where souvenirs are in demand.

Stages Physical Comeback

Her work has helped her to stage a physical comeback which her friends say is little short of remarkable. While still far from normal health, she is now able to be about, help with the household duties and not so long ago completed the unusually ambitious task of altering the interior of the house—making an archway between the dining room and the living room instead of the former narrow doorway.

Miss Caffey does not confine her artistic talents to shells. She is skillful at freehand sketching and using pastel crayon as a medium has made several original sketches that are strikingly effective. At present she is making a seascape made up entirely of seashells.

Her mother, widow of the late Theodore Caffey, is one of the old pioneer residents of this area, having resided in these parts since years before the Soo Line railway was built.

JOE HEIRMAN ROTE SPEAKER

Tells Of Importance Of Farming To Delta County

"Agriculture is one of this county's most important industries," Rotarians were told by Joe Heirman, Delta county agricultural agent, at the regular luncheon meeting Monday.

Heirman pointed out that agriculture in this county provides an annual income of two and three-quarter millions of dollars, of which two million is income from dairying.

He said that while there are less farms today in this county than years ago and gradually there grew less, it was because many of the smaller units were being absorbed into the larger.

The area with it's state champion growers is gradually becoming famous as a potato growing county and he lauded the Potato Growers Booster club for the interest and help given.

COOKS LOSES 44-24 BATTLE

VanDamme Sets Scoring Pace For Defending Champions

Cooks, Jan. 7—Perkins stayed well up in the running for a repeat performance as champion of the Central U. P. D-E Basketball league by handing Cooks a 44-24 defeat here last night.

And by the same token the Cooks reserves kept their season's record unbesmirched by stopping the Perkins reserves, 25-20, in the preliminary. VanDamme was the big gun of the Perkins offensive, tallying 10 field goals and a charity toss. Ledvina was right in there pitching also, copping second high scoring honors with five field goals and a brace of free throws.

Perkins led at halftime, 20-11. The triumph gave Perkins a record of eight victories and one loss for the season. Its only defeat was by Hermansville.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Fritz Crisler is the Coach of the Year, all right, but in our opinion, he has not yet been given sufficient credit for the manner in which he kept the Wolverine gridders geared to peak or near-peak performances Saturday after Saturday.

* * *

This required a masterful touch, and Crisler passed the test. Without indulging in dressing room drama or employing flamboyant histrionics on or off the field, the University of Michigan mentor somehow got the idea across to his players each week that the next game was practically THE game of the year.

* * *

Quietly and calmly, he analyzed and publicized each team's strong points week by week, bolstered his defense to meet these strong points and then jacked up his offense to take full advantage of opposition defensive weaknesses.

* * *

The way Crisler operated overconfidence did not have a chance of slipping into the Wolverine camp. He had his players too much concerned with strong points of each approaching foe, hardly before they had a chance to read the papers and find out how they looked against last Saturday's opponent.

* * *

Another feather in Crisler's bonnet is the way he handled his gridders through all the pre-game Rose Bowl fanfare in Pasadena and Los Angeles. That was a ticklish job. He had to strike a happy medium between too much entertainment and a too Spartan-like existence in the glamor-packed Hollywood and Southern California atmosphere.

* * *

Without adroit handling, the Wolverines could easily have lost the fine competitive edge and fine sense of timing that had marked their play all season.

* * *

That he succeeded in this is evidenced by the 49-0 victory over Southern California.

* * *

Had Crisler clamped down too hard on his cohorts and said: "Uh-ugh! No movies, no studio tours, no interviews or audiences with Loretta Young, Marlene Dietrich, et cetera—no Santa Claus—he might have had a player problem on his hands such as that which faced the Penn State coach when he quartered an Orange Bowl team in military barracks and then wondered why some of them jumped the fence and went into town for a little fun.

* * *

The Penn State affair caused considerable dissension among the players, who expected at least to sleep on a comfortable hotel bed, and almost cost the Pennsylvanians the ball game. They went to work, however, and gained a 13-13 deadlock with SMU.

* * *

Yes, Crisler did a great job. But he had great talent to work with, too. The Wolverines proved themselves a level-headed group when they survived the movieland maelstrom and played possibly their greatest game of the year.

Marquette Sextet Tips Gladstone Indians, 4-3

Gladstone, Jan. 7—Marquette defeated the Gladstone Indians, 4-3, in a bangup Upper Michigan Amateur Hockey league game before a moderate-sized crowd at the outdoor rink here.

It marked the sceond successive triumph for the Marquette team over Gladstone, but the Indian management felt considerable compensation for the improved play of the Indians in the second game.

The game was deadlocked at 3-all until Kelley of Marquette rapped in the winning goal with seven minutes of play remaining.

Belmore scored on a rebound to put Marquette in front in the first period. Art LeGault scored from scrimmage to make it 1-1 in the first period. Gladstone went ahead, 2-1, in the second period on Lake's goal, assisted by LeGault.

Marquette tied it up at 2-2 on Pascoe's counter with Lawrence getting the assist and Lawrence tallied unassisted midway in the second canto to put Marquette in front. Just before the period ended, however, Erickson slipped one in to make it 3-all.

It was a busy night for both goalies. Maki, Gladstone tender, made 24 stops, and St. Onge, Marquette net minder, made 29 saves.

Wallace Cameron, Gladstone, officiated.

Rickey Has Football Dodgers in Tow, Too

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Branch Rickey, who usually has his hands full with the Brooklyn baseball Dodgers, has the Dodger pro football franchise of the All-America Conference today, but whether he would keep it was problematical.

The announcement that the Dodger baseball interests had acquired the football club, while not unexpected, took a room full of writers somewhat by surprise. They had come for what was expected to have been a full dress interview with Leo Durocher, returning officially for the first time since his reinstatement as pilot of the Dodger ball team.

As for whether or not he will retain the football team, Rickey had this to say:

"I understand that there are people of responsible caliber who are interested in operating the franchise. If they can guarantee continued football in Brooklyn and prove acceptable to the league, I will give them one year rent free."

DETROIT FIGHTS

Detroit, Jan. 7. (AP)—Ace Miller, 137-pound Toledo fighter, and Harold Guss, 179, of St. Louis, won decision victories last night in the 10-round feature matches at the Arena Gardens. Miller outpointed Talmadge Bussey, Detroit, who also weighed 137, and Guss scored his victory over Vern Escoe, 156, of Toronto. A crowd of 1,475 paid a gross gate of $2,794.81 for the card.

NO HARD FEELINGS

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 7. (AP)—If the choice of Michigan as the nation's No. 1 collegiate football team left any hard feelings, they were not evident in an exchange of telegrams between officials of the local school and Notre Dame.

Wolverines Are Very Fast

Miss Kalmbach, who works for Station KXLA, met 26-year-old Assistant Coach George Ceithaml the day of the New Year's football classic, and four days later was wearing an engagement ring from him.

She said today she would leave for Ann Arbor and a wedding in a couple of weeks.

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 7. (AP)—Bobby Riggs, national professional tennis champion, evened his transcontinental series with Jack Kramer last night in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3.

Rock, Jan. 7—Rock high school cagers broke loose from a first-half 21-21 tie to go on a scoring rampage in the fourth quarter that netted them a 45-34 victory over the Nahma high school quintet in a Central U. P. D-E Basketball league game played here last night.

Every player on the Rock team except one shared in the scoring and, as if to favor him, a Nahma player scored one basket for Rock. Top honors went to Valeen, Rock forward, who dipped in six field goals and two free throws.

Rock scored 17 points the last quarter. Nahma held the winners to a 21-all halftime tie and was trailing only 28-25 going into the last period.

Rock will play St. Joseph's at Escanaba Saturday night.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Despite all protestation to the contrary, there are indications that at least a few southern schools will holler for a more liberal NCAA 'purity' code before the meetings this week with legalized and limited subsidization . . . Story is that the president of one highly-respected institution will appear to present such a plea. . . . Carl Olson, Pitt track coach who visited Europe last summer, figures that the U. S. will have a tough time winning any race longer than 100 yards in the Olympics next summer . . . The field events look a little easier, especially if Bob Fitch decided to compete. Fitch, an amateur coach, hasn't made up his mind yet . . . Incidentally, the Olympic committee is scheduled to meet Saturday to select the coaches.

Wild-Eyed Idea

During the rampant discussions of the proposed 'purity code' one publicity man, Jim Corbett of LSU, came up with this idea . . . They have to have some ideas to justify their presence here for a two-day meeting . . . 'Since they're always talking about the 'poor' south and the 'wealthy' Ivy league and Big Nine, he proposed, why not assess the alumni of those groups a certain amount each year? Then turn that over to the alumni of our "poor" southern colleges so that they, in turn, could pay the expenses of deserving athletes . . . that way we'd all be honest, within the rules.

One-Minute Sports Page

Hughie Devore can't even answer when you ask him about that report he'll become Notre Dame coach when Frank Leahy resigns after the 1948 season. He just snorts something about the guys who know more about a person's plans than the guy himself does and then talks about the depth of the snow in West Orange, N. J. . . . and Yale's Howie Odell professes not to know a thing about published reports that he's being considered for the West Virginia job . . . one guy who really would be interested in West Virginia is Joe Maniaci, who coached that mighty Bainbridge Navy team during the war and won the Eastern Sectional title in the American pro association during the past season with the Paterson Panthers . . . Marvin Mansfield, Michigan State sophomore baseballer, wants his brother 'Dynie' to buy him a first baseman's glove. That would be okay, says big brother, except that if I do it he'll be playing against my Wisconsin team next spring.

End of the Line

Earl Sande, who has wintered his horses in New York for several years, is considering moving to Hot Springs, Ark., this year . . . Greg Rice, who insists that he's in pretty good shape for a guy who has to battle Long Island snowdrifts, is working out at Kings Point, where he used to coach, in hopes of shedding 20 more pounds . . . Cornell's Mose Quinn insists that his wife never reads the papers to learn whether Cornell won or lost. 'She looks to see who has been fired and paid off for a couple of years,' he says. 'Then she tells me it is a great idea.'

Capacity Crowd Slated To See Hawks In Action

Escanaba's capable Hawks, who battled the Newberry puck chasers to a rousing 5-5 deadlock in their opening U. P. Hockey league game here last Sunday afternoon after copping a pair of warmup tilts from the Gladstone Indians, will meet the Gladstone hockey squad in a league encounter at the indoor rink here Thursday evening. The opening faceoff is scheduled for 8.

A capacity crowd is expected to be on hand tomorrow night when the Hawks swing into their second loop engagement. By their sparkling play to date, the 1948 Hawk aggregation has won itself a host of followers. who will be out to watch the Escanabans go all out to chalk up their first league triumph.

Judging from the hockey talk in downtown Escanaba Monday following the spine-tingling encounter with Manager J. A. Morrison's Newberry Indians Sunday, the Delta metropolis, or rather the whole county, is rapidly becoming hockey-minded.

Thrill-Packed Game

The Hawks carried the fight to the Indians all the way and held the upper hand most of the way, but Newberry managed to tie it up before the final bell.

To give you some idea of what a bruising game it was, two Newberry players were injured so badly they could play no more. and as a result the usual overtime in the case of a tie was called off. All of which represented a sportsmanlike tho' exceedingly generous gesture on the part of the Hawks.

In view of this rousing finale to a thrill-packed game, it is a safe wager that the spectators will be hanging from the rafters, figuratively speaking, of course, come Thursday night.

League Schedule

The remainder of the league schedule follows: Thursday, Jan. 8, Gladstone at Escanaba; Sunday, Jan. 11, Marquette at Newberry; Tuesday, Jan. 13, Escanaba at Marquette; Thursday, Jan. 15, Gladstone at Newberry; Sunday, Jan. 18, Newberry at Gladstone, Marquette at Escanaba; Tuesday, Jan. 20, Newberry at Marquette; Thursday, Jan. 22, Escanaba at Gladstone; Sunday, Jan. 25, Escanaba at Newberry; Tuesday, Jan. 27, Gladstone at Marquette; Thursday, Jan. 29, Escanaba at Gladstone, Marquette at Newberry.

ESKYMOS HOST TO GLADSTONE

High School Quintets Renew Cage Season Here Friday

The Escanaba high school Eskymos will resume their basketball schedule here Friday night with a game against the Gladstone high school Braves in the junior high school gym. The varsity game will start at 8:30 and will be preceded by a game between the Escanaba and Gladstone reserves at 7.

Coach Jim Rouman has been drilling his cagers regularly since Monday in an effort to shake off any after effects of Christmas or New Year's turkey and avows that the crew will be in mid-season form by Friday night.

All Eskymos reported back for duty after the holidays rarin' to go and are eager to tangle with their traditional rivals, the Gladstone Braves.

In addition to practice since Monday, the Eskymos got in quite a bit of practice during the holidays in connection with the basketball clinic conducted by Coach Rouman in conjunction with the Hardware - Escanaban Spartan game at junior high.

Trojans Say Irish Are Better Eleven

Los Angeles, Jan. 7. (AP)—All the returns weren't in yet, but to Southern California's battered Trojans—who should know—Notre Dame rates the nod over Michigan as the nation's top college club.

Incomplete tabulation of a Trojan poll showed Notre Dame nearly a 3-1 choice despite the sportswriters' poll giving Michigan a 2-1 bulge.

NEED LUBRICATION

Before automobile brakes are tested as to adjustment, the linkage from brake pedal to drums should be thoroughly lubricated. It is also well to remember that lack of lubrication often accounts for inefficient brake performance by restricting the free action of the linkage and causing poor adjustment or undue wear.

Bob Brannum Meets An Old Pal 'Groza' Next Saturday Night

East Lansing, Jan. 7 (AP)—Athletic officials expect a new attendance record to be set at Jenison fieldhouse here Saturday night when the Michigan State basketball team meets the tall and terrific visitors from the University of Kentucky.

The old mark of 11,305 was set last Jan. 14 in a game with Notre Dame. All reserve seats already are sold for the meeting with the Blue Grass boys and the MSC ticket department is predicting a total attendance of up to 14,000.

An unusual interest in the contest has developed because MSC captain Bob Brannum, a former Kentuckian, will be pitted against Alex Groza, the six foot seven inch star who ousted him from his center position last year. Since his transfer from Kentucky the six foot five inch Brannum has led the Spartan scoring in six wins out of eight starts this season.

RAPID RIVER TIPPED, 34-28

Teams Score Only Nine Points Each In Last Half

Felch, Jan. 7 — Felch made a fairly slim first-half lead stand up throughout a grimly fought last half to win a 34-28 Central U. P. D-E ball game from Rapid River here last night.

Felch took a 15-11 first-quarter lead, bolstered it a mite to 25-19 at halftime and then each team proceeded to play tight defensive ball that left few chances for set shots at the basket.

As a result, the rivals scored only nine points each that last half. Felch had the edge, 3-2, in the third quarter, but Rapid River had a 7-6 margin in the finale.

In the preliminary, Rapid River's reserves won, 32-27.

Eben and Rapid River will play at Rapid River Friday night, but the game constitutes a home game for Eben. The two teams met in Rapid River earlier this season, but since Eben has no gymnasium, the second game also will be played in Rapid River. Paul Meli, Negaunee, will referee. The preliminary will start at 7 and the main game at 8:30.

Other Central U. P. D-E games on tap this week find Nahma at Cooks Thursday night and Bark River-Harris at Perkins Friday night.

ALL SEWED UP

New York, Jan. 7. (AP)—Although it hasn't signed either heavyweight champion Joe Louis or challenger Jersey Joe Walcott yet, it appeared today that the 20th Century Sporting Club had the "fight of the year" virtually sewed up for this town next June. The 20th S. C., or the Mike Jacobs S. C., if you choose, announced last night that it has "practically closed" with the champion for a June title bout in one of the ballparks here.

SAILOR PRAISED BY CASTAWAYS

Ten Brought To Safety After Wreck On Icy Alaskan Point

Kodiak Alaska, Jan. 7 (AP)—Survivors of the wrecked motorship Spencer who were stranded for five days and nights on an ice-coated ledge today attributed their safety to the coolheadedness of the vessel's youthful captain.

The 10 survivors, including a mother, her five children, and a 7-year-old grandson, were returned here yesterday along with three navy men whose small boat overturned during a daring rescue attempt last Saturday night.

All were rescued by the Coast Guard Cutter Clover and Navy tug Mataco Monday after 60-mile an hour winds and heavy seas had balked efforts for three days.

In interviews, the survivors praised Capt. Axel Carlson, a man in his 20's. He led them from the broken ship and up a 25-foot bluff to a shelter in the rocks.

The 65-foot craft ran onto the rocks 100 feet from shore about five miles from the village of Kanatak during a gale. The party managed to reach shore with a supply of ropes, blankets, personal belongings and canned food.

Heavy snow prevented a fire for two days, Capt. Carlson related, and the party subsisted on frozen food wrenched from cans.

"We thought we never would thaw out again," he said.

Miss Skonberg and Carlson said they planned to wed as soon as she is released from the hospital.

Four of the group suffered from badly frost-bitten feet, and four others were running temperatures and were "potential pneumonia cases," a Kodiak doctor said.

Airliner To Miami Crashes In Marsh With 27 On Board

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 7 (AP)—Fifteen persons were killed and nine injured today when a Coastal Airlines twin-engined plane crashed in a marsh on the Savannah river.

The Civil Aeronautics authority said the plane carried 25 Puerto Rican passengers and a crew of two.

The report that the plane carried the Puerto Rican passengers was received by the CAA from Raleigh, N. C., where the plane landed and took on gasoline earlier today.

Home Fires Kindled After Grand Rapids Petrol Flood Scare

Grand Rapids, Jan. 7 (AP)—Residents in the southwest section of the city who were evacuated Monday when three wrecked railroad tank cars spilled gasoline into the sewer system creating an explosion hazard, were permitted to return to their homes and rekindle furnace fires today.

Firemen and police had been withdrawn from the scene of Monday's wreck of a New York Central freight train which rammed a string of stationary cars being switched in the local yards.

At St. Mary's hospital the condition of Edward Schramm, 23, Jackson, fireman on the incoming freight, and the only person injured in the wreck when he leaped from the locomotive cab just before the impact, was reported continued critical.

Christmas Comes To Russia Today; Moscow 18 Below

Moscow, Jan. 7 (AP)—This is Christmas day in Russia, and although it is not an official holiday many believers still observe it.

Worshippers thronged Moscow's Cathedral of the Resurrection and other orthodox churches throughout the Soviet Union last night for Christmas Eve services. The crowds were somewhat smaller than in past years, however, because of the bitter cold—18 below in Moscow.

According to the calendar of the eastern church, which was the one in official use in Russia until the revolution, this is Dec. 25, and observed as the birthday of Christ by the churches.

Jews Roll Bomb Into Jaffa Gate; Ten Arabs Killed

Jerusalem, Jan. 7, (AP)—Jews disguised as Palestine policemen rolled a bomb into the Jaffa gate of the old walled city of Jerusalem from a crudely armored motor car today and killed 10 Arabs.

An Arab policeman and a Jew were killed by a second bomb tossed from the car in flight. Soldiers subsequently killed one of the attackers as he fled after abandoning the car.

A witness said the car, armed with machineguns drew up to the Jaffa gate firing into the crowd and moving slowly.

"Then, as we thought they were turning away," he said, "the bomb rolled into the street and the explosion followed."

Leaves on the north side of a tree are longer and darker, and have lighter veins.

British And U. S. A. Authorities Revise German Government

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 7 (AP)—Top American and British authorities sat down with German leaders today in a conference expected to result in a major revision of the Bizonal governmental structure.

Reliable sources said the U. S. and British leaders discussed plans for creation of a "little shaef," modeled upon the supreme headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, of World War II, to run the Allied occupation of western Germany.

Results of the conference may well affect international relations between the Russians and the Allies as well as the economic status of western Germany.

The announced purpose was to strengthen the German administration which handles economic matters in the British and American zones—without, officials stressed, attempting to create a new political government of western Germany.

However, even as the conferees gathered, the Communist press opened its attack on the meeting with a charge in the Berlin newspaper Neues Deutschland that it was a "treasonable conspiracy" to split Germany in two.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor in Germany, and the British commander, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, went into the meeting armed with a series of proposals—but prepared also to ask the German leaders for their own suggestions.

They met in a room decorated with flags which included that of the pre-Nazi Weimar republic. Others were the British, French, American and Russian emblems.

The plans were expected to result in a pooling of American and British manpower at a financial saving to taxpayers back home. In some agencies in western Germany, Americans will get fuller control over the affairs of the combined zones than they now hold.

The conferences with the Germans were expected to result in a parallel reorganization of the German Bizonal administration to make it work more efficiently in the task of effecting western Germany's economic revival.

In the same way the British and American military staffs pooled their headquarters manpower to run the battle against Germany during the war, so now their occupation staffs will be pooled to save manpower, officials said.

Former Escanaban Sends Rose Bowl Goal Post Splinter

John P. Norton, publisher of the Escanaba Daily Press, one of the most loyal supporters of University of Michigan sports, today received a note from Marshall Long, of Phoenix, Ariz., attached to which was a splinter from the goal post of the Rose Bowl in the New Year's Day Michigan-Southern California game.

Mr. Long, who is a former Escanaban, the son of Mrs. Harry W. Long, and the late Dr. Long of this city, writes: "Knowing how much Michigan means to you — I am sending you a genuine splinter from the goal post of the Rose Bowl."

Mr. and Mrs. Long went from Phoenix to Pasadena for the game and write that they had an excellent trip and "needless to say enjoyed the parade and game."

REVENUE PLAN OF PRESIDENT STIRS UP GOP

individual taxpayer is what we need."

But Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Senate Finance Committee which handles tax legislation after it clears the House, took sharp issue with this view.

"The present excessive tax rates on employers discourage the formation of investment capital," Millikin told a reporter. "Our payroll makers are therefore required to furnish the tools for labor largely out of their profits.

"To tax away that opportunity would wither our economy and the payrolls which it sustains. I hope the president does not get into unsoundness of that kind.

Senator Martin (R-Pa), a member of Millikin's committee, agreed with the chairman.

"I feel that taxes are so high that they are destroying the incentive which has made the United States the strongest industrial country of the world," Martin said. "This not only applies to the owners of the plants, but it also applies to the farmers and the workers."

Martin took the position that industry needs money to "plow back" into better plants and equipment to increase production.

Voice of America Broadcasts Voted

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP)—Legislation authorizing the State Department's "Voice of America" foreign broadcasts was approved unanimously today by the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

This action came as informed administration officials reported George V. Allen, 44-year-old ambassador to Iran, is Secretary Marshall's choice for the long-vacant post of assistant secretary of state for public affairs. They told reporters they expect President Truman to send Allen's nomination to the Senate shortly.

Prior to the middle of the 19th century, cotton rags served for almost a thousand years as the basis for most paper manufacture.

FRESH LEVIES ON BUSINESS ARE PROPOSED

level" of $12,500,000,000 in 1946 and $17,000,000,000 in 1947, the chief executive said it was proper to shift "a larger share of the load" to big businesses.

They can "well afford" to carry it, he declared.

The proposed individual tax credit would date back to January 1. The president left for future explanation how the increased levies he proposed on corporate profits would operate and gave no details of a suggested "appropriate adjustment for small corporations."

Mr. Truman coupled American economic aid under the proposed European recovery plan with armed might as equal necessities in keeping peace.

He said the $400,000,000 assistance program voted last year for Greece and Turkey enabled them to preserve their integrity "against foreign pressures." The president did not mention Soviet Russia or Soviet-dominated countries by name, but said without this help the result might have been "radically different."

Continued preservation of Greek and Turkish integrity, he said, "will have a powerful effect" upon other nations of the Middle East and Europe "struggling to maintain their independence."

His remarks were carried abroad as well as to the nation by radio.

The president gave no clue to the size of the proposed budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1. The budget estimates will be sent to Congress Monday.

Expenditures Cut

However, he declared that "government expenditures have been and must continue to be held to the lowest safe levels."

He said expenditures have been cut from more than $63,000,000,000 in the 1946 fiscal year to less than $38,000,000,000 in the current fiscal year ending next June 30, while the number of civilian federal employes has been reduced from 3,750,000 to 2,000,000.

Reaffirming his belief in the "soundness and promise" of the plan to help Europe restore its economy, the president declared that "the ability of free men to overcome hunger and despair will be a moral stimulus to the entire world."

He held out the promise of helping nations elsewhere in working for "world economic recovery" and said he will submit to the present session of Congress "a special program of assistance to China, to provide urgent relief needs and to speed reconstruction."

"We shall continue our co-operation with the nations of the western hemisphere," he added.

He promised also that the United States will exert its "utmost efforts" to obtain satisfactory peace settlements for occupied Germany, Austria, Japan and Korea—efforts which he said have "so far been blocked."

Goal Not Mentioned

In accordance with the agreement announced Monday by Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate foreign relations committee, Mr. Truman made no mention of $17,000,000,000 overall goal for European recovery.

He declared, however, that he considers it "of the highest importance" for Congress to authorize support of the program for the full four and one-quarter year period running to June 30, 1952.

And he hold fast to his figure of $6,800,000,000 as the initial outlay for the first 15 months.

But while the administration time table calls for the program to go into operation with this money on April 1, there were fresh predictions even before the speech was made—from Republican Senator Taft of Ohio and Democratic Senator George of Georgia—that July 1 will be more like it.

The shape of the foreign aid program will be determined largely by hearings starting Thursday in the Senate foreign relations committee and next week in the House foreign affairs committee. There is little objection in Congress to helping European democracies, but there is sharp disagreement on how to go about it and how much to spend.

"We are following a sound, constructive and practical course in carrying out our determination to achieve peace," Mr. Truman said.

"We are fighting poverty, hunger and suffering.

"This leads to peace—not war.

"We are building toward a world where all nations, large and small alike, may live free from the fear of aggression.

"This leads to peace—not war.

"Above all else, we are striving to achieve a concord among the peoples of the world based upon the dignity of the individual and the brotherhood of man.

"This leads to peace—not war."

Must Stop Inflation

Devoting a large share of his message to a domestic program of "economic, social and moral achievement" the president asserted these goals are endangered by the spiral of inflation which he said "holds the threat of another depression."

He said that events since he described his anti-inflation views to the special session November 17 "have made it even clearer that all ten points" of his program "are essential."

"We must deal effectively and at once with the high cost of living," Mr. Truman asserted.

"We must stop the spiral of inflation.

"I trust that within the shortest possible time the Congress will make available to the government the weapons that are so desperately needed in the fight against inflation."

Until the surge of prices is stopped, he said, "there should be no cut in taxes that is not offset by additions at another point in our tax structure."

When inflation has been conquered, he continued, "we should consider tax reduction based upon a revision of our entire tax structure."

On the broad domestic front, Mr. Truman said the government should aim at five goals "which have the greatest bearing upon the foundations of our democracy and the happiness of our people." He said it should be possible to accomplish them within the next ten years.

He described the government's first goal as that of "securing fully the essential human rights of its citizens."

He said he will send up a special message later recommending equal opportunities in education, jobs and voting for persons of every race, creed or color along the lines suggested by his committee on civil rights.

Two New States

To extend civil rights elsewhere, he said, the time has come to admit Alaska and Hawaii to statehood.

On goal number two, development of "human resources," he recommended:

Extension of unemployment compensation, old age benefits and survivors' benefits "to millions who are not now protected" and an increase in the size of the payments.

A national health program with the ultimate aim of "a comprehensive insurance system to protect all our people equally against insecurity and ill health."

Federal financial aid to the states to equalize educational opportunities.

Establishment of a new executive department for the administration of health, educational and security programs.

A long range housing program including federal financial help to produce more housing at lower prices, and public housing for low income families.

Until the drastic housing shortage is overcome, he said, "we must extend and strengthen rent control."

On the third goal of preserving "our national wealth against those who would misuse it for selfish gain" the president urged:

Application of Tennessee Valley flood control and power experience to the development of other great river valleys.

Development of mineral resources and new supplies of critical materials with provision for their stockpiling.
